

Curious about moving outside of Vancouver?

Toronto Edition

Demographics Population

Greater Toronto Area

5.5+ Million

Toronto

2.8+ Million

Greater Vancouver Area

2.7+ Million

Vancouver

631,486

TORONTO

VANCOUVER

BCom Salary Range

$38,987 - $77,415

$39,161 - $74,543
(payscale.com)

MM Salary Average

$48,559

$44,892
(SEAT)

MBA Salary Average

$87,360

$74,654
(SEAT)

On average, new grads earn

2 to 9K more annually

in Toronto vs. Vancouver

(payscale.com)

In-Demand Job Functions

Healthcare
Management

Education

Non-Profit,
Fundraising

Construction
Management

Retail & Wholesale Trade

Insurance,
Real Estate & Financial Brokerage

Construction

Corporate
Sales

Marketing
Event
Management

Green
Building Construction
& Design

Litigation

Criminal Prevention &
Security Law

Financial Managers

Senior
Managers

Computer & Informational Systems

Facility
Operation & Maintenance

Headquarters Include

TORONTO

VANCOUVER

Industry Snapshots

Management Consulting

Financial Services

Accounting

TORONTO

52,780 people work in this occupation in Greater Toronto Area

21,050 people work in this occupation in Greater Vancouver Area

2X the amount of accounting roles in Toronto than in Vancouver

VANCOUVER

Supply Chain

Labour force by Province

Labour force by City

BC

121,081

Ontario

350,478

Vancouver

77,734

Toronto

174,918

Housing Rental Prices

TORONTO

1 Bedroom
$1,423
on average

VANCOUVER

1 Bedroom
$1,447
on average

Vancouver, BC kept its spot as the most expensive city to rent in Canada.

Cost of Living Comparison

TORONTO
VANCOUVER

Monthly
transit pass

$141.50
$91

Monthly
broadband internet

$55
$64

Dinner for two

$75
$65

Loaf of bread

$2.70
$3.12

Pint of beer

$6.00
$6.00

Alumni & Employer Testimonials

In the marketing industry, the majority of brand's or their agencies main offices are located in Toronto. There are opportunities in Vancouver with smaller brands or agencies however, there are many more opportunities in Toronto. It has positively impacted my career as I was able to apply to a greater variety of jobs and choose a job that I could see myself in long term. There is also greater networking opportunity as I can attend industry specific events and meet with a wider variety of people within the marketing industry to expand my network.

- Samantha Bisnaire, MM '16

I chose Toronto as my next home after BC mainly because of the extra potential to further my career. I found there were more opportunities at an analyst / associate level in Toronto than in Vancouver. Moving to Toronto has given me the ability to have more experiences within different companies than I think I would have been able to in Vancouver, given the breadth and diversity of companies in the biggest city in Canada. For anyone looking to get started on a career here, it always helps to visit the city and network in person!

- Jennifer Jordache, BCom '15

Moving to Toronto has had a tremendous impact on my career and truly put me on the right path to exploit my potential. The amount of activity and opportunities is just not comparable to what I was used to in Vancouver. In the financial industry the big five are always hiring and I know people who've worked for all of them multiple times in their career. I'm currently very passionate about my role at CPPIB, but should things change, I know there's a deep job market where to look for my next challenge.

- Marco Mascherpa, MBA '12

Toronto is a very exciting place to be when you begin your career! With so many corporate national offices—including Labatt's—being based in the Greater Toronto Area, students and recent graduates benefit from the larger pool of jobs available to them and the exciting career paths these opportunities lead to. Working at a national office in Toronto will lead to quicker progression in your career, while also allowing you to live in the fastest growing city in North America!

- Bianca Ciccarelli, Western Canada People Manager, Labatt Breweries