

Introduction to SEAT

Signing up to SEAT

1. To activate your account go to: <https://sauder-ubc.12twenty.com>
2. After signing in with CWL, you will be asked to complete a brief survey of your background information.
3. Once you have completed the survey, your account will be activated.

Reporting employment outcomes

Reporting employment outcomes is a way for students to communicate to the school about their post-grad intentions. To report, go to your student profile page, and determine what kind of employment outcome you are reporting, and complete the applicable survey.

Using the Research Tools

Your SEAT account includes a variety of tools that allow you to search outcome data using a number of different attributes. Attributes are metadata related to a job, for example – law firm size, employment type (government, law firm, public interest...), practice area, city, and graduation year. These attributes are available throughout SEAT to help you with your employment search.

- Class Overview – A window into your graduating class' outcome status.
- Outcome Index – A tool that allows you to sort any attribute by average salary or number of offers. For example, the top employers by base salary.
- Salary Database – A tool to that allows you to look up data on job compensation.
- Offer Timeline – Discover when students received job offers.
- Offer Job Source – Discover how jobs were received job offers.
- Offer Trends – Year-over-year job offer timing.
